

The Menominee Megaphone

June 28th, 2017 - The Monster Edition

Menominee Monster Night By AJ Villareal

It was a dark, cool evening at Camp Menominee. Clouds descended overhead, and the scene was perfectly set for an all-new campfire: Menominee Monsters. The rules were simple. Each cabin had to come up with a monster that lurks the grounds of CM, create a back-story for that monster, and perform a skit involving that monster. The night began with Cabin 3's creature, a blood-sucking mutant, with an eerie story told by JOSH NAMORDI. However it was Cabin 4's National Geographic skit featuring a spoof of JASON (played by JACOB MASKIN) as the monster that took the cake. Their skit featured multiple creatures, acted out by AARON PELTS, CHARLIE EISENBERG and other cabin members each parodying a different staff member. Other notable performances included Cabin 17's spoof of the TV show "River Monsters" featuring TAYLOR BEAUSEIGNEUR and DAVID RIBOT as the Australian hosts describing a monster played by JAMES POPLAWSKI. Cabin 13's skit told of a monster that stole the talents of certain staff and admin members at camp, with the monster being played by SAM MYERTHALL. Some cabins lost sight of the objective and made too many personal jokes rather than creating a scary creature that would cause campers to lose some sleep. This campfire has a ton

DAVID RIBOT and TAYLOR BEAUSEIGNEUR as the hosts of "River Monsters" in their cabin's presentation

JEREMY BACH and AJ GALFIELD act out Cabin 14's monster, the "Oracle of Koz's House"

Senior Cabin Takes Cathy's By Editors

Usually, birthday's at camp are celebrated with cake for the Cabin and an enthusiastic rendition of "Happy Birthday" by the entire camp. Occasionally a birthday is celebrated with a Dina Mia's pizza party, but after the celebration of TODD LAZARUS' birthday in the mess hall, JASON announced that the Senior Cabin would be traveling to Cathy's ice cream shop in St. Germain courtesy of TODD's parents. Their quick run to Cathy's, an iconic favorite of the Northwoods, began after lunch during a real rest period. Once they arrived, the birthday boy quickly chose a cookie dough flurry, a Cathy's twist on a traditional milkshake. REMY DOYLE stayed in the birthday spirit when he ordered a scoop of birthday cake ice cream. ROBBIE YASTROW kept it simple with a scoop of chocolate ice cream. JAKE HOODACK said it was a great way to

Eggciting Times at the Egg Drop By Woody

What a perfect evening for the egg drop. It's not often that the tower is beaten, and against a backdrop of blue sky, the contest began at 7:00 p.m. sharp. Cabin 3's ELI FRIEDMAN felt confident as he handed over their egg, which was carried over to a basket hauled by MICHAEL OUEDRAOGO to the top of the 50 foot tower.

The "eggspectant" crowd counted down from 5, and then, splat! the egg was no more. 50 feet is a long way for a lonely egg to drop, even if it is encased in moss, leaves, bark and sand. ELI FELDMAN and GRAY DROBNY from Cabin 4 were convinced their egg carrier would do the job, but once again the tower showed no mercy. REID KANTER, counselor of Cabin 7, handed over the smallest and lightest egg protection I have ever seen. This could be the one, I thought. But no; it fell far quicker and hit the ground harder than I "eggspected". The tower seemed to be taking a rather callous pleasure in smashing the eggs this evening. Hailing from Cabin 8, NATE BEERMAN and COOPER SPECTOR, and birthday boy JESSE KAPLAN fared no better. Cabin 9, with a determined JACK FOR-MAN were similarly dismissed. Could anyone beat the tower? I thought perhaps, that Cabin 10 had "cracked" it as

Cabin 13's winning egg drop contraption is

SAWYER KROLL (chief referee of the event) dug around inside their log contraption, but no, his fingers came out covered in yolk. So with Cabin 14 breaking their egg before the big event, and 15 and 17 falling to the power of the tower, it was up to the final Cabin-13-led by ANDREW BLECHMAN, with an excited JACK BEHAR and DANIEL MALIS, to save the day. And they did it! The only cabin to beat the tower this year. And just to prove the egg was not hardboiled (it has happened before), ISAAC MILLER had the egg ceremoniously broken over his head.

Counselor Profile:

Born: Dublin, Ireland

Years at Camp: 1

Cabin: 4

Favorite Movie: 8 Mile

Favorite Canteen: Jelly Beans

Best Camp Memory: Meeting everyone on the first night of camp.

ISAAC MILLER braces for impact as WOODY tests whether the winning egg was hard-boiled.

Junior Twilight League Standings

Team	W	L	GB
DANIELS	3	1	--
GALFIELD	2	2	1
SCHNEIDER	2	2	1
FELDMAN	1	3	2

Spirit

Determination

Heart

Leadership

Attitude

Sportsmanship