The Big Debate by Woody

Politics is alive and well here at Camp Menominee. Democratic debate is what we had in Wasserman Hall last night, as the WOODIES Vs KOZ's went head-to-head to see who would win the vote that would secure their respective elevation to the leadership of the camp.

Senior cabin members DANIEL "DBI" BEN-ISVY and MAX SHAPIRO representing the KOZ Party and RYAN BLUM and JOSH STONE of the WOODY Party took the stage to debate the important issues of the day. Seasoned debating veteran, DBI drew first blood with his rebuttal of pretty much everything the Woody Party had to offer. His considered and sensible responses to the idea of eight – yes 8(!)-Canteens in one day was well-received by the audience. RYAN BLUM from the Woody Party had some clever and reasonable things to say as both he and JOSH STONE made a light of the fact that they were relative rookies at the camp debating "game."

Newspapers from around the world were present – the New York Times, The Chicago Tribune and the Menominee Gazette most notable, and after answering questions from audience members including the "man with many"

Gazette most notable, and after answering questions from audience members including the "man with many questions" TYLER BORSTEIN, it was time to vote. Mr JONAH WEISS stood at the podium to announce the result. By a score of 53 to 26 the party who are going to run Camp tomorrow will be...the KOZ Party! DBI and MAX SHAPIRO will become Steve and Woody respectively, so hold on to your hats for a crazy day! Maybe we should rename it Wild Wednesday!

FITNESS by Zach Schwartz

You may think that fitness in Final Four is all fun and games, but it is not. PAM ADLER'S Fitness Class is a combination of kickboxing, weight training and yoga. All in all the class is exhausting depending on whether or not you are trying. There are only two other campers in the class with me, JOSH STONE being one of them and occasionally EMMA (the nanny) and Eva join us as well. The Fitness class also involves cardio training as well as full body workouts. It is a very fun class and I want to encourage more campers to do it. It's energetic, not just because of the music, but because of Pam's teaching style. She's so motivating and uplifting that you can't help but put your all into the routine and feel the burn which they say means that the hard work is soon to pay off!

SENIOR CABIN NIGHT OFF by Noah Lazarus

Last night we went out to town. First we went to Kartway where we went go-karting. JUSTIN OLSON got asked to leave the track multiple times because he couldn't understand the rules of the game, which ended up being quite funny. Shortly after that, our counselor ANDY SCHOFIELD challenged us to a game of Laser Tag. While we were playing DANIEL BEN-ISVY ran into a wall (ouch!). Following all that excitement, we went to Trig's to buy some essentials that we were running low on. Lastly we ended up going to Eagle River, where we saw the movie "Edge of tomorrow." The senior cabin campers were the only ones in the cinema room, so we were talking and laughing out loud at things and not disturbing anyone. On the way back, MAX SHAPIRO saw a deer nearly hit our car but thankfully it was all fine. Our first night off was excellent and I can't wait for our next one!

BACKGAMMON by Jake Fishbein

Steve Kanefsky challenged the camp to his best and favorite board game, Backgammon. Steve had his first challenge with LEVI SCHULMAN and defeated him. He then faced the underdog and unknown player JAKE FISHBEIN. With Jake's opening move, Steve instantly knew he was in trouble. As the game went on Steve got in more and more trouble. Eventually, it was too much and the Backgammon giant (Steve) was defeated. On the other side of the draw, ROBBIE APPELBAUM played CIT ETHAN WEISS; he cruised past Ethan and then went on to play JONAH WEISS in the semi-final. Jonah put up a good fight but Robbie was a match too far. In the finals it was Jake Vs Robbie. Lucky Canteen Number 51. From the start of the match, Robbie knew that he was out matched because Jake was the newly renowned veteran player. Jake ended up winning the tournament in the blow out final. It was a great tournament with many good players.

Not one but two COLLIGIATE SHOWDOWNS! By Editor

Yesterday, TAYLOR BEAUSEIGNEUR decided to have two Collegiate Showdowns. Naturally, all of the campers couldn't believe this fun and exciting news! There is just one more day to go of Collegiate Showdown and it's been one of the most competitive programs that Camp Menominee has ever seen. With so many athletes from all the different age groups and so many good Team Captains, tomorrow final Collegiate Showdown will definitely be one to watch out for! I managed to get all of the results for you guys below:
